

Pick up dead and remove to secure storage promptly and without delay

Do not have a temporary overnight storage – dead/culled birds left in the control room overnight must be avoided

Ensure that dead bins are locked and located well away from the birds

Birds that have leg health issues should be culled promptly and humanely

All sheds doors including catching doors should be kept locked even when the manager is on site

Don't leave the site until you have resolved any issue you wouldn't want to see in the press the following day

Treat drugs for what they are – drugs – and keep them clean, cool and secure

Never leave medicines or vaccines on display

Lock away all paperwork and safely dispose of old paperwork and out-of-date certificates

Everything has a home – put it back at the end of the day so that it is easy to find tomorrow

Spilt feed is unprofitable and a hazard – clean it up before the wild birds (Al risk) and vermin (salmonella risk) do

Remember – anything that doesn't look right, isn't right

Get onto maintenance early before a routine job becomes a crisis – a leaking nipple on a drinker line will only get worse not better

Act at all times as if the farm assurance auditor or a member of the public is coming round today

Ring police without delay if you spot anything suspicious or suspect you have had a break-in, and join a Farm Watch scheme in your area

For more information, the latest news and to keep up to date with the NFU's work in the poultry sector visit: www.nfuonline.com/sectors/poultry